

You may not need to apply for a Tourist Development Tax Account with our office. The Pinellas County Tax Collector entered into agreements with the below platforms to ensure our county will receive the tourist development taxes due from every Pinellas County property owner (host) whose booking is paid through these registered platforms.

These platforms will collect and remit the taxes paid through their site on behalf of their hosts. However - if the host contracts with a third-party reservation system that advertises on one of these platforms and the payment goes through the third-party and not the registered platform - the host is still responsible for remitting the taxes on their bookings.

If you are using these sites exclusively, and not using a third-party reservation system, you will not need to complete an application to obtain a Tourist Development Tax Account with our office.

The registered platforms are listed below in random order with the applicable effective date:

- Airbnb - Bookings effective December 1, 2015 forward.
- HomeAway - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- VRBO (Vacation Rental by Owner) - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- TripAdvisor - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- FlipKey - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- Misterb&b - Bookings effective June 1, 2018 forward.
- HolidayLettings - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- HouseTrip - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- Niumba - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- VacationHomeRentals - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
- VacationRentals - Bookings effective October 1, 2018 forward.
